For many who have lost income or assets during the recession, dealing with mounting debts and persistent creditors can be difficult or even overwhelming. However, there are legal options for dealing with debt that can help you regain control over your financial life.

This workshop will provide an overview of how to address debt and creditors, including how to prioritize debt, the right to be free from creditor harassment, options for refinancing or modifying mortgages, how to negotiate with credit card companies and other creditors, and the benefits and drawback of filing for bankruptcy.

By providing this information, this workshop will help you to make the best choices given your financial situation.

The Workshop will be presented by Shana Khader, Esq., Staff Attorney, New York Legal Assistance Group.
